Positioning Statement

"For the privacy-conscious thinker who feels suffocated by the digital glare, Moonlight is the 'Analog Encryption' system that transforms journaling into a private sanctuary. Unlike standard stationery, we use spectral ink technology to teach the lost art of shorthand, allowing you to reclaim your thoughts from the prying eyes of the status quo."

Brand Value

Functional: Reduce Risk / Sensory Appeal
Emotional: Badge Value / Reduce Anxiety
Life Changing: Self-Actualization

Brand Archetype

The Sage (80%)

Keepers of lost arts. Values wisdom, clarity, and the pursuit of truth through deep study.

The Rebel (20%)

Reject the "status quo" of digital surveillance. Believes privacy is a right that must be fought for with tools, not just asked for.

“Reflect What is Hidden”

The invisible ink only reveals itself when it reflects the specific UV wavelength of our light.

Journaling is about reflecting on your inner self—the parts of you that you keep hidden from the outside world.

In a world where everyone "shares" everything, we value what is kept secret.

Cryst

Age: 24

Job: Junior Data Scientist

Location: Urban Resident

Status: Single

Income: 200k/month

"I don't need 'smart' features that track my keystrokes. I need a quiet place to think where the only algorithm is my own mind."

About

A high-functioning techie who ironically trusts technology the least. By day, Cryst navigates complex cloud infrastructures on Arch Linux; by night, they are a "Neo-Luddite" who disconnects completely. Obsessed with workflow optimization (using Colemak-DH and Vim), they view learning shorthand not as a chore, but as the ultimate "life hack" for speed and encryption.

Needs

Cryst craves "sovereignty" over their own thoughts, rejecting cloud syncing in favor of total ownership. They seek tools that offer "intellectual friction"—like fountain pens or complex shorthand—because the difficulty forces deep focus, while premium materials provide the tactile sensory grounding they miss in a digital world.

Frustrations

They are exhausted by the "digital noise" of constant notifications and the invasive nature of surveillance capitalism, where private conversations instantly become targeted ads. Cryst is frustrated by modern tools that are "dumbed down" for mass appeal, preferring raw functionality and control over user-friendly constraints.
